Hi Harry,

Sketches to Xiangwei, Brian, Tammy and me, please.

INTEREST12 (Mandy Zuo) Finance minister Lou Jiwei said the US does not have the condition to increase interest rates, saying the world’s biggest economy has the responsibility to boost global economic development. Speaking on the sideline of an IMF and World Bank meeting in Lima, Lou said the economies in Europe have improved after reforms, but that they are facing challenges of the refugee crisis. On China, Lou said China has to ensure that economic growth to be within a reasonable range, and will continue implementing structural reforms. A top Chinese central banker said a "persistent" weakening of the yuan would be inconsistent with the fundamentals of the world’s second-biggest economy, and the country is committed to making its currency regime more flexible and market based + FS John Tsang will meet and ask Yellen in Lima when the US will raise interest rates. 30cm

LANKA12 (Deb) Sri Lanka’s new leaders are banking on Chinese investment to revive a port project that became a symbol of the last government’s excesses bankrolled by China. Situated at the southern tip of the strategically located Indian Ocean nation, Hambantota gained notoriety as a port without ships and was the opposition’s butt of criticism of the China-friendly Mahinda Rajapaksa’s tendency to throw Chinese money at vanity projects to line his pockets. “We have US$1.5 billion sunk in the project and no revenue. So we need to make use of it. We would want Chinese investors to come and help turn it into a dockyard as well as invest in an industrial park there,” Deputy Minister of Foreign Affairs Harsha de Silva told the South China morning Post in an exclusive interview. 40cm Spill to A3

TPPI2 (Phila/ Denise) Hong Kong, which was not included in the United States-led Pacific rim trade deal last week, does not want to see it become a barrier in global trade, according to financial secretary John Tsang Chun-wah. The city must step up efforts in lifting its edge amid soaring global competition. + other reactions. 35cm

LAUNDER12 (Phila) The number of serious fraud and money laundering cases in Hong Kong has soared, police warned, as syndicates have been increasingly recruiting non-locals to launder their money. In the first half of this year, there were already nine such cases, with about HK$450 million made from fraud laundered. There were only four such cases in the whole of last year. 30cm

PANDA12 (Christy) Ocean Park’s giant panda Ying Ying is expecting to meet the public in two to three weeks as it is on track to recover from a miscarriage last week. Ocean Park curators Howard Chuk and Cissy Kou, who take care of Ying Ying closely, said the 10-year-old panda may join the national breeding programme again as one of the options to try again to be pregnant. 40cm + small pic PIC

CYCLTHON12 (Ernest) Tourism Board has apologised to cyclists for poor coordination in the traffic and race arrangement in Hong Kong’s first cyclothon in history, which was met with cool and wet weather and confusing road signs. The tourism promoter’s tourism product general manager Mason Hung Chung-hing said five cyclists got hurt and were admitted to the hospital. 25 cm PIC

OSCAR12 (wire) China has made a last-minute change to its submission for next year’s Oscars because its Sino-French hopeful “Wolf Totem” failed to have enough Chinese among its creative staff to be eligible, state media reported Sunday. 20cm

A4 FOCUS

FOCUS_MTR (Oliver) The issue of “oversized” music instruments on the city’s mass transit railway will put to the test how far Hong Kong is a world-class city in handling space and high arts. The issue has rattled the music community from students to professionals after a series of expulsions of young musicians from MTR took place last month for carrying large instruments on board. The news and the resultant disbelief went viral beyond the city limit. MAIN ILLO + TIMELINE

CHINANK12: Holding hands with top Chinese official, North Korea’s leader Kim Jong-un tells the world that Beijing is by his side He was the only foreign dignitary of any significance at the event - and it showed. While a stream of goose-stepping soldiers, columns of tanks, a range of missiles and other armaments passed through Kim Il Sung Square in the heart of Pyongyang for the 70th anniversary of the founding of the ruling Workers’ Party, North Korean leader Kim Jong-un frequently smiled and talked to Liu Yunshan, the Chinese Communist Party’s fifth-ranked leader. At the end of the event, Kim and Liu, the highest-ranking official of China in four years to be in Pyongyang, held hands as they waved to the crowd that began chanting the North Korean leader’s name. (40CM) + PICPHUKETRIOTS12: An angry crowd hurled homemade fire bombs and torched vehicles at a police station on Thailand’s resort island of Phuket to protest the deaths of two young men who died in a motorcycle crash while being chased by police. (25CM) + 2 PICS (MAIN)

COCOISLANDS12: A sparsely populated cluster of Indian Ocean islands has become the unlikely focus of allegations that Myanmar’s government is spiking the chances of democracy icon Aung San Suu Kyi’s opposition party in next month’s landmark general election. Both the ruling Union Solidarity and Development Party (USDP) and the Nobel peace laureate’s National League for Democracy (NLD) have fielded candidates on the Coco Islands, an archipelago off Myanmar’s west coast and the country’s smallest parliamentary constituency. (35CM) + MAP

NEPALPM12: Reporting as Nepal’s parliament votes to elect the country’s next prime minister, three weeks after adopting a new constitution that has triggered deadly protests and a border blockade

INDONAJIB12: Malaysian Prime Minister Najib Razak starts a two-day visit to Indonesia, with tensions between the neighbours high as the region chokes under a cloud of haze caused by Indonesian forest fires

BAG12 (Ernest) Green groups have bestowed rare praise on an expanded government levy scheme that they claim has helped reduce plastic bag use at newsstands by nearly 90 per cent since it came into force six months ago, but it still has room to improve. A survey by Greeners Action on 160 newspaper vendors around town found 79 per cent no longer pre-bagged newspapers and magazines in plastic, while 90 per cent of 1,112 thousand consumers polled no longer requested them. 35cm MAIN PIC

HA12 (Emily) Public hospitals’ major crisis of having a record high number of doctors retiring next two years has been delayed - temporarily by a few years- under a new scheme that have recruited 60 of the 100 departing practitioners, the Hospital Authority said. But the HK$570 million special scheme, funded by the government to ease manpower shortage by recruiting retired doctors, still failed to stop the talent loss among the severely understaffed public hospitals. 30cm supplied PIC + CHART (1 col x 20 lines)

STUDENT12 (Jeffie) Student unions of eight universities would hold referendums in the coming months demanding an amendment to university ordinances which stipulate the chief executive is the default chancellor of the institutions in the wake of the HKU Johannes Chan saga. 25cm Xref to C3 PROFILE
